

Literacy Quiz

Literacy involves reading fluency and comprehension. Reading fluency requires word attack skills to sound out words and break them into syllables. Reading comprehension requires the ability to understand words and go beyond the words to a deeper level of understanding. To accomplish that, you must ask yourself those critical thinking questions that enable you to understand character feelings/motivations, predict outcomes and integrate your own background knowledge with the text.

Does your child.....	YES	NO
Resist reading?
Know a word one day and forget it the next?
Have difficulty using phonics?
Have trouble breaking words into syllables?
Read books rapidly but can't tell you what they are about?
Have a limited vocabulary?
Have difficulty writing book reports?
Have trouble summarizing what was read?
Have difficulty making inferences about characters' feelings?
Have trouble going beyond the text to find the deeper meaning?
